Figure 1 consists of four subplots arranged in a 2x2 grid. The top row shows the basic model with parameters $\beta = 0.5$, $\gamma = 0.2$, and $\delta = 0.1$. The bottom row shows the model with vaccination, with the same parameters plus $v = 0.1$. The left column displays the number of infected individuals (I) over time (t), and the right column displays the number of susceptible individuals (S) over time (t). In all plots, the x-axis represents time (t) from 0 to 100, and the y-axis represents the number of individuals from 0 to 100. The top-left plot shows I starting at 100 and decreasing to near zero by $t = 100$. The top-right plot shows S starting at 100 and decreasing to near zero by $t = 100$. The bottom-left plot shows I starting at 100 and decreasing to near zero by $t = 100$, with a slightly faster rate than the top-left plot. The bottom-right plot shows S starting at 100 and decreasing to near zero by $t = 100$, with a slightly faster rate than the top-right plot.
